“ My family (the Reavis') were neighbors with the Busbys in Benbrook back in the 60s. We were a large group of kids that spent hours and hours playing together. Even after they moved away, we stayed in touch. They formed a very special bond with my youngest sister, Becky, inviting her to stay with them as often as possible and visiting us in Benbrook when they could. They considered Becky as another daughter, a bond which continued to this day. Vernon and Faye, and their children, were loving, generous people and we are forever grateful for their love and affection through the years. Our sincere condolences go out to the entire family during this trying time. Faye was a very special friend and will be dearly missed.
