“ Uma always had the best stories, she would tell you about the good 'ol days and about the times when life was much simpler, less complicated and how things were different. She could go on for hours, but I never minded much, I always loved listening to her talk. She had nicknames for all her great- grand kids, she'd be talking about something random and then all of a sudden she'd throw in " well Colorado..." and you would have to continue listening to decipher if she was talking about the actual state, or her great-granddaughter Aspen. It was like that often. It used to make me laugh all the time. She will definitely be missed, her stories will be missed and her spunky attitude. She will live on through the many memories, stories, videos and photos. I'm so incredibly blessed to have known her. - Courtney Taylor
