“ We had to move out of the apartment in Bedford and decided to go stay at my father's house in Portland Oregon. We knew we wouldn't stay there for a long time because I knew how hard it was to get along with my dad. We didn't know where we would end up after leaving there but we didn't care and just went with it. After a few weeks we had had enough of him and Portland so we decided to go stay with my cousin in Detroit Michigan for a little while. The way the busses were set up we had to go back to Denver Colorado and then back up from there. While we were there we got some medical marijuana from a man on the streets. Emrys and I got so high all night long! Then a family member got put in the hospital in Tennessee and had to drive there in my cousin's truck. We staid there for less than a week and decided to go stay in Georgia to spend some time with his family. We ended up staying there for a few weeks and after finding out that it long time friend of ours in Texas had cancer we left Georgia and moved back to Texas. We rode the Grey hound bus every time we went from one state to the other. While we were traveling we talked a lot about everything which brought us closer. His brother Garrett called it the summer of love tour! And that is exactly what it ended up being for us! We had the best time just being with each other, seeing the country side, and learning so much about each other and the land we were traveling. We had the best time and I will never forget it and I'm very grateful for the time we got to spend with each other! I will always love and miss Emrys!
